ASSOCIATION OF CONGREGATIONAL CHURCHES IN SESSION AT HOWARD.

An excellent program was rendered at the Howard Congregational Church, Twelfth avenue, North, on Wednesday night, which marked the opening of the twenty-sixth annual meeting of the Tennessee Association of Congregational Churches, and the Eighteenth annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Union, now in session in this city. It was 7:45 when song services were opened by the choir of Howard Church, assisted by some of the leading singers from Fisk University. An appreciative audience, including distinguished citizens from all parts of the city, listened with interest to the proceedings. The welcome address was delivered by Hon. J. W. Grant, who in a very interesting talk extended a welcome to the visitors from the several states. There were other addresses of welcome on the program, but the others assigned were not present. The response was made by Rev. T. E. Smith, D. D., of Chattanooga. A beautiful selection was rendered by the female quintet.

Mr. W. L. Johnson, of Lexington, Ky., who was presiding, introduced Rev. J. G. Merrill, D. D., President of Fisk University, who delivered the opening sermon. Dr. Merrill took his text from Exodus 33:15: "If thy presence go not with me, carry us up not hence." This was a powerful sermon. He portrayed from the life of Moses some most beautiful characteristics. It was one of the most logical sermons heard for some time. Dr. Merrill proved to be a powerful minister of the gospel. His sermon was timely and appropriate. After the offering, the services closed, when the introduction of visitors took place.

The general session of the Association will be held at Howard Church Sunday, the 28th.

The closing service will be held Sunday night, with sermon by Rev. C. J. Ryer, D. D., Secretary of the American Missionary Association, New York City.

Dr. H. M. Hamill, Superintendent of the Sunday School Department of the M. E. Church, South, of Nashville, a man whose interest in the Negro race has won the confidence and gratitude of colored people in Nashville, will appear on the programme. Important questions such as "Church Extension," "Good Citizenship," "Methods of Church Work," "Tri-Union as the Union of Congregational, Methodist Protestant and United Brethren," will be ably discussed.

REV. W. S. ELLINGTON STORMED.

The ladies of the First Baptist Church gave Rev. and Mrs. Ellington a very pleasant surprise Wednesday night, April 24. Between ten and eleven o'clock, loud rapping was heard at the front door. Upon opening the door a number of jocular, laughing ladies rushed in, singing, "We shall come rejoicing, bringing in the sheaves." They were laden with good things for the pantry—sacks of flour, sugar, coffee, tea, potatoes, butter, soap and cans of syrup, corn, pine apples, peaches and other good things. Those who participated in the "storm party" were Mrs. Emma M. Battle, Misses Eleanor and Willie Battle, Mrs. Ellen Benson and Miss Janie E. Benson, Mrs. L. B. Cheatham and Miss Maggie Lou Cheatham, Mrs. J. W. Work, Mrs. Nellie Moore, Mrs. Frankie DeBerry, Mrs. Lucy Northorn, Mrs. E. W. Knight, Mrs. Alexander Goodwyne, Mrs. Genie Williams, Mrs. J. E. Bradford, Mrs. Cora Hall, Mrs. Sarah Stafford, Mrs. Charity Newland, Mrs. Louis Fort, Mrs. Susie J. Carter, Misses Elvira White, Fattie E. Caruthers, Nettie Ewing, Martha Grisham, and Belma Mahan, Dr. J. B. Singleton.

DEATH OF GEORGE ENGLISH.

MISS ANNA T. JEANES.

ful view of his environment and adjust himself to existing conditions.

The nobility of Miss Jeanes as exemplified by her act in giving the princely sum of $1,000,000 as an endowment in perpetuity, the income from which shall be used for the educational benefit of colored children in schools in rural communities throughout the Southland recalls to mind the unselfish efforts of another great and noble-hearted woman—Harriet Beecher Stowe—who through the medium of pen, succeeded in awakening the public conscience against that incubus of crime, chattel slavery—the crime of the centuries. She laid bare the glaring inhumanities as they existed and the effects were electrical—slavery was doomed, and the people whose cause she espoused were destined to be the recipients of other benefactors such as Miss Jeanes. Thus it is to be observed that gentle woman has played and is still playing a conspicuous part in the salvation of our people.

Miss Jeanes has done a significant and commendable thing in naming as one of the trustees of the fund a colored man—Booker T. Washington. This recognition of Washington is also a recognition of the possibilities of the race. Forty years ago, which is a short span of time in the life or history of a people, it would have been beyond the belief of any one that at this near day a million dollars would be given to our people for education and one of its members charged with the duty of assisting in selecting a Board of Trustees to see to the distribution of the income. The wildest and most optimistic dreamer could not have conjured up such a seemingly impossible thing; yet just such a thing is pleasingly true to-day. It is true by the providence of God whose workings we understand only in direct ratio to the diligence and application we give to the solution of the problems next to our hand. He shows us his goodness through human channels, as in the case under notice.

Here is a thing which is pregnant with meaning: First, Miss Jeanes made a million dollar gift for the education of the Southern country Negro; second, she entrusted a Negro with a prominent share of the responsibility of seeing that her intentions relative thereto are carried out, putting these two facts together, and summing up by deduction, it must be presumed or the conclusion drawn that she believes that the wisdom of her actions in this particular instance will be justified by results in the coming years.

GOODLETTSVILLE NOTES.

Miss Mary L. Finch recently celebrated her sixteenth birthday at her home. Many friends were there, and a large number of presents were received.

The entertainment given on the 20th inst. for the benefit of the Afro-American Mechanics' Council was a success.

Little Henry Patton, Jr., has recently been very ill, but is now improving. Mrs. Martha Payne is very ill.

Our public school closes to-day. Miss Rosa B. Hendricks is in Nashville this week as the delegate to the Tennessee Association of Congregational Churches.

The services at the Congregational Church last Sunday afternoon were well attended and seemingly highly appreciated. The pastor made an earnest appeal for practical religion.

A. M. E. UNION.

The A. M. E. Ladies' Union No. 1 held its regular monthly meeting Friday, April 5, at the residence of Mrs. Evans Tyce, North Hill street, with a large attendance. The meeting was opened by the President, Mrs. Henry Smith. After all business was transacted a delightful programme was rendered. Mrs. W. T. Hightower read quite an interesting paper followed by discussion. Recitations by Willa Brown and Mrs. Alberta Saunders, and instrumental solo by Mr. Arnett Coffee, then came an election of officers for the ensuing year. The next meeting will be held Friday, May 3, at 3 p. m., at the residence of Mrs. A. W. Brown, 19 North Hill street. A three-course menu was served.

MR. WINTER MUCH IMPROVED.

Mr. Lewis Winter, the popular Fourth avenue produce and poultry dealer, is able to be out again after a long illness. Mr. Winter is one of the leading merchants in the South, having conducted one of the largest produce and poultry houses in Nashville for a number of years. Mr. Winter established his business on a small scale in 1865. He sprang into prominence several years ago when he secured a corner on eggs in the South and gained the title of "Egg King."

Mr. Winter employs between forty and fifty people, and several of these are expert egg packers. He ships poultry and produce to all parts of the country.
